OAEA Organizational Structure

OAEA is a non-profit, volunteer-based organization.

Leadership Assembly: The OAEA is managed by a Leadership Assembly comprised of elected, appointed and ex-officio members. One annual meeting is held each November at the OAEA Professional Development Conference which rotates locations around the state.

Divisions: OAEA membership is represented by eight divisions based on their curricular level: elementary, middle/junior high, secondary, higher education, supervision, pre-service, emeritus, and museum Educator.

Regions: To best serve its members, the OAEA is organized into nine geographic regions, led by an elected regional director and regional officers.

"OAEA encourages me to keep growing! I am challenged with new opportunities and supported by an AMAZING network of professionals"

Developing Creative
 Mindsets
 since 1954

Building community for visual art education by promoting professional growth and leadership.

We reach this mission by:

- Uniting art educators in the promotion and understanding of the visual arts in a quality education;
- Stimulating the professional growth of members;
- Initiating art education service and advocacy programs;
- Encouraging the involvement and commitment of members in all activities endorsed by the association;
- Informing members of current educational developments; and
- Educating citizens and key decision makers about the knowledge, skills and values provided by quality art education.
